Tunisian Licences Extended

Dominion is pleased to announce that, following a detailed submission by the Company on 2 February 2011, the Director General of Energy at the Tunisian Ministry of Industry and Technology has now extended the term of Dominion's wholly-owned Tunisian subsidiary FAPCO's licences over both its two permits in the country, Fawar and Mezzouna.

The exploration licences, originally granted for five years, have been extended for one year until 4 April 2012 and for a further year thereafter subject to Dominion completing certain seismic acquisition and drilling programming.

Masoud Alikhani, Chairman of Dominion, commented "We are impressed that the Tunisian authorities have responded so swiftly in extending our licences at a time when the country is undergoing considerable transition. The Company can now proceed rapidly to fund and to undertake its projected seismic and drilling campaigns on our two exciting permits".

The Directors of Dominion Energy Plc accept responsibility for this announcement.

Notes to Editors:

Dominion Energy was incorporated in September 2000. Until 2007 it was engaged in oil and gas exploration, development and production in the United States of America. It disposed of its US assets and in 2006 acquired two exploration permits in Tunisia for an initial period of five years. In 2008 the Company became interested in certain oil and gas projects in the Persian Gulf. Heading the Company's geological team are Dr Mongi Gharbi and Dr Mohammed Mokhtari who have extensive experience of the oil and gas industry in North Africa, the Middle East and Europe.

The Company announced with its Preliminary Results for the year to 30 June 2010, issued on 25 November 2010, that it has signed terms with a large diversified Russian group, whose activities include interests in oil and gas, to form a joint venture to include the introduction of new assets into Dominion. Additionally, it will be the joint venture's intention to move the new enlarged business of Dominion to the Alternative Investment Market of the London Stock Exchange.
